INTERACTIVITY 2023 HOSTS

Association of Children’s Museums

The Association of Children’s Museums (ACM) champions children’s museums and together enrich the lives of children worldwide. Our vision is a world that prioritizes the rights of all children to playfull learning and a healthy, safe, and equitable future. With nearly 500 members in all 50 states and in 19 countries, ACM is celebrating its 60th Anniversary, marking six decades of leadership and impactful service. As a global leader, advocate for children, and resource for the children's museum field, ACM and our member organizations strive to build a better world for children.

Visit www.ChildrensMuseums.org to learn more about ACM.

Louisiana Children’s Museum

Thriving children are at the core of a thriving community. For more than 35 years, the Louisiana Children’s Museum (LCM) has engaged children in intentional, immersive experiences and interactive play to support optimal social, emotional, physical, and cognitive growth. Far more than a destination for entertainment, the Museum is a powerful hub for discovery, connecting, and hands-on learning that is committed to strengthening communities, one child and one experience at a time.

In a state and city known for being near the bottom rankings in children’s well-being and education, the new campus, and its programs, exhibits, and approach to engaging children and their caregivers represent a bold effort to improve outcomes for Louisiana’s children.

Nestled in the heart of New Orleans in City Park, the 8.5-acre site, which opened in August 2019, has a LEED Gold certification. Sustainability is paramount for LCM: the project preserved the site’s trees, and 125 additional trees were added to the landscape. An interactive 9,000-gallon cistern collects rainwater and the Museum’s lagoon was restored to include freshwater and brackish wetland environments.

In addition to a commitment to Sustainability, visitor experiences at LCM focus on other impact areas as well: Early Learning & Literacy, Arts & Culture, and Health & Wellness. These impact areas are also represented in the Museum’s outreach programs, camps, and resources shared with families. Guests and partners will also notice that LCM places what children notice, think, and do at the forefront of the Museum’s planning, experiences, and work. The Museum follows the Reggio Emilia Approach® to Childhood Education—a child-led approach that actively engages children in the process of learning. Ideas, quotes, and artwork from children are present throughout the museum, and guide the Museum’s work and messaging. In fact, the drawing used in the LCM logo is the work of a child.

An authentic and collaborative approach to learning and wellness grounds the museum and its programming. Exhibits and programs are the product of conversations, focus groups, and extensive planning that involved early learning experts, grassroots community and civic partners, healthcare professionals, and higher education leaders and children. These efforts focused on infant and toddler mental health, physical development, caregiver engagement, early literacy, culture, heritage and the arts, and informed the design of the five exhibit galleries at LCM: Play with Me, Follow That Food, Dig Into Nature, Make Your Mark, and Move With The River.

The Louisiana Children’s Museum provides safe spaces for all and continues to be a destination of discovery—opening the world of possibility to the children of the community and their caregivers. Learn more about the Louisiana Children’s Museum at www.lcm.org.
• Offer admission of no more than $3.00 per person displaying a SNAP EBT card.

• Good for families or groups of at least four people.

• Already offer discounted admission? You might already qualify to be a Museum for All.

• Museums for All offers only minimum guidelines. Feel free to make your museum even more accessible.

Dear Colleague,

Welcome to New Orleans for InterActivity 2023: Leveraging Our Voice! The children's museum community is committed to helping children and their families grow into confident and skillful lifelong-learners, inquirers, and change agents. As the children's museum field continues to respond to challenges—and new opportunities—we know the importance of using our voice to advocate for our field, our communities, and most critically, the children and families we serve. We look forward to hearing those stories throughout the conference and leveraging the voices that share them!

Together, ACM and the Louisiana Children’s Museum, in partnership with the InterActivity 2023 Program Committee, have created a robust program. The schedule is jam-packed including six blocks of professional development sessions, plenary sessions, the opening night reception in the ACM MarketPlace, and featured opportunities such as the Emerging Museums Pre-Conference, An Evening at the Louisiana Children’s Museum, and the Museum CEO and Executive Directors Retreat. Diversity, equity, accessibility, and inclusion (DEAI) is embedded throughout the sessions. InterActivity 2023 will highlight two plenary sessions, welcoming trailblazing speakers from outside the field: Dr. Calvin Mackie, award-winning mentor, inventor, author, and founder of STEM NOLA, and Dr. Kathy Hirsh-Pasek, accepting the 2023 ACM Great Friend to Kids Award. A Professor of Psychology at Temple University and a Senior Fellow at the Brookings Institution, her research examines the development of early language and literacy as well as the role of play in learning.

InterActivity 2023: Leveraging Our Voice invites the children’s museum field to celebrate how far we’ve come as well as envision how far we’ll go. The conference marks the conclusion to ACM’s 60th Anniversary Year as we look to the future under the guidance our 2023-2028 Strategic Plan.

You will leave New Orleans feeling connected, inspired, refreshed, and empowered to leverage the voice of children’s museums within your own community.

Dear Friends,

It is my pleasure to welcome you to the great state of Louisiana for this year’s Association of Children’s Museums and the InterActivity conference. I don’t believe you could have selected any place better than the wonderful city of New Orleans, which is one of the most hospitable and culturally vibrant cities in the world. The diversity of our people, history, music and food creates the richness that can only be experienced in Louisiana. I’m especially excited that you have chosen to meet at the Louisiana Children’s Museum.

The Louisiana Children’s Museum is an important asset for both the city of New Orleans and our state. As we’re all very aware, families across Louisiana are facing many challenges. Fortunately, there are safe havens for children and their families to flourish. Children museums are vital institutions within our communities that are there to help support those who enter their doors every single day.

All Louisiana children deserve to be valued, and being able to work together with dedicated children’s museum professionals to help build up the future leaders of our state is critical. The museum is not only a place for play, but a place where children can discover new interests, stimulate their creativity, and nurture their understanding of the world around them. Their programming within the impact areas of sustainability, arts and culture, health & wellness, and literacy offer visitors the opportunity to foster early childhood development, learning, exploration, and safe play experiences for all of our youngest citizens.

I applaud the work and dedication you bring to your profession. Through continued dialogue, we can continue to combat the challenges facing our communities and create a brighter future for all of our children. It is my hope that your time here inspires and cultivates new ideas for you to take home. Enjoy and have a great time.

God bless,

Dear Friends,

On behalf of the City of New Orleans, we are excited that you have chosen our beautiful city to host the 2023 Association of Children’s Museums Annual Conference. Your vision of a world that honors all children and respects the diverse ways in which they learn and develop is in alignment with the City of New Orleans’ Youth Master Plan and its plan to improve the lives of children and youth in New Orleans across sectors.

It is my hope that the time spent in New Orleans will be a catalyst in the continued effort to find more ways to broaden the base of children and families that have an opportunity to participate in the museum experience. Children’s museums across the country have found creative and innovative ways to stimulate children’s imaginations. The environment of learning, creating, and discovering is truly enchanting.

While you are here, it is our hope you will take advantage of the magic our city has to offer. New Orleans is a family-friendly city with a wide variety of activities to meet your needs. Our downtown is home to the historic French Quarter, which offers a peek into the past like no other city in the country. The “Crescent City” owes its nickname to the bend of the Mississippi River; we encourage you to stride along the Moon Walk and marvel up close at the power of this natural wonder. Other wonders downtown include award-winning museums which are nestled among a variety of art galleries. Hop on the streetcar and admire architectural gems along the famous St. Charles Avenue and stroll through Audubon Park as you make your way to the Audubon Zoo. Head to City Park and admire the majestic oaks, and while you’re at it, stop at the New Orleans Museum of Art or at our exceptional Children’s Museum. Of course, don’t forget to sample some of the nation’s best cuisine—we have over 1,000 restaurants to choose from! Lastly, be sure to fill your soul with the sweet sounds of New Orleans tunes. Best wishes for an informative, productive, and enjoyable conference. Laissez les bon temps rouler!

Sincerely,

LaToya Cantrell
Mayor, City of New Orleans

EXPLORE NEW ORLEANS

ACM and the Louisiana Children’s Museum welcome you to New Orleans for InterActivity. Make sure you leave time for all there is to see and do in the Crescent City! The city’s invigorating spirit is sure to inspire, captivate, and motivate you to jump right in. History, art, music, culture, and more—you can find it all!

National World War II Museum

The top attraction in New Orleans and a bucket-list destination for fans and students of history around the world, the National WWII Museum takes visitors on a powerful, inspiring journey through the eyes of the men and women who fought for freedom and democracy in the war that changed the world. Immersive galleries and exhibits, interactive experiences, oral histories and more bring the American experience during WWII to life in ways that will stay with you long after your visit is over.

New Orleans Museum of Art

As New Orleans’ oldest fine arts institution and one of the top art museums in the South, the New Orleans Museum of Art, or NOMA, hosts an impressive permanent collection of more than 40,000 objects. Known for its extraordinary strengths in French and American art, photography, glass, African and Japanese works plus rotating exhibits, NOMA offers a little something for everyone and anyone seeking inspiration and enjoyment through art and culture.
New Orleans City Park
At 1,300 acres, New Orleans City Park is one of the largest urban parks in the United States. It’s also home to the largest grove of mature live oaks in the world, some of which are more than 800 years old. Many of the city’s most beloved attractions and outdoor spaces can be found here, including the Louisiana Children’s Museum, the New Orleans Botanical Garden, Couturie Forest and Arboretum, the New Orleans Museum of Art, Carousel Gardens, City Putt, and bike and peddle boat rentals at Big Lake.

Nightlife/Music
New Orleans, the birthplace of jazz and cocktails and host to Mardi Gras every year, likes to stay up late. While music is the local language any time of the day or night, come sundown in New Orleans, opportunities to listen and dance to live music and catch cabaret shows are in every nook and cranny. The musical notes of jazz, brass, R&B, soul, and many mixes fill the air along with night-blooming jasmine and other fabulous tropical fragrances. Walk down Frenchmen Street, the main artery of the Marigny neighborhood adjacent to the French Quarter and take in the vibrant blocks of cafes, music clubs and restaurants. Preservation Hall on Bourbon Street is always a hit but also visit the Mother-In-Law Lounge on Claiborne Avenue, Rock-N-Bowl in Mid-City, the Maple Leaf Uptown and Vaughn’s in the Bywater. These local dives and music venues will keep you dancing all night. It’s all part of the magic, part of the brilliant je ne sais quoi that is found only in New Orleans.

Mardi Gras World
To get the feeling of Mardi Gras year-round, visit Mardi Gras World, the largest float designing and building facility in the world. Here more than 80 percent of the floats that journey down New Orleans’ streets during the Carnival season are designed and built. Begun in 1947 by float designer and builder Blaine Kern, Mardi Gras World provides visitors with the opportunity to don authentic Mardi Gras costumes and tour enormous warehouses filled with floats. The tour includes a short video and guide who is quite knowledgeable about Mardi Gras history and customs. And for a taste of Mardi Gras, king cake and piping hot New Orleans coffee are served.

GENERAL CONFERENCE INFORMATION

InterActivity Registration Desk
The ACM InterActivity Registration Desk is located in the Grand Ballroom Foyer on the third floor. Registration Desk hours are:

- Wednesday, April 26: 7:00 a.m.–7:00 p.m.
- Thursday, April 27: 7:00 a.m.–6:00 p.m.
- Friday, April 28: 7:00 a.m.–4:00 p.m.

Program Locations
Most InterActivity 2023 programming will take place at the New Orleans Marriott (Marriott) unless otherwise noted.

ACM MarketPlace
The ACM MarketPlace will be held in Grand Ballroom of the Marriott. It will be open on Wednesday, April 26 from 5:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m., with a reception starting at 5:00 p.m., and Thursday, April 27 from 7:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Your conference badge is your entrance ticket, so please wear it at all times. Breakfast, lunch, and an afternoon coffee break will be served in the ACM MarketPlace on Thursday, April 27.

Internet Access
Complimentary internet access is provided throughout the Marriott in the public space and in your sleeping room.

Social Media
Follow ACM on Twitter (@ACM_Worldwide) and Instagram (@AssocOfChildrensMuseums), and join the InterActivity conversation with the hashtag #IA23. Share your photos of the learning and fun on Facebook. Be sure to tag Association of Children’s Museums. You can also post to the social feed in the InterActivity Mobile App (see the following page for details).

ACM Bulletin Board
The ACM Bulletin Board is located near the InterActivity Registration Desk on the third floor in the Grand Ballroom Foyer. Use the board to post messages and announcements, including event tickets you wish to resell.

Information Tables
Use the tables located in the Foyer of the fourth floor to share your museum’s brochures and educational materials.

Getting Around New Orleans
The hotel is nestled on NOLA’s Canal Street, between the French Quarter and the Warehouse District.

Get ready to explore New Orleans and enjoy an unforgettable trip to the Big Easy. Discover the vibrant street life and music spilling out of doorways on Frenchmen Street and Bourbon Street, see a show at historic Preservation Hall, or take an architectural walking tour through the French Quarter. Hop aboard the iconic streetcar lines to get around town, or venture outside the city to experience Louisiana’s rich cultural heritage. You’ll never run out of things to do in New Orleans.

Streetcars are a charming and convenient way to experience the many areas of New Orleans. Four distinct lines, each originating Downtown, will take you through the French Quarter and beyond to places you might not otherwise get to see.

The Canal Street line has a stop right in front of the Marriott and the St. Charles Avenue line has a stop two blocks from the Marriott at the corner of St. Charles Avenue and Canal Street. The fare is $1.25 one way (exact amount required) and $3.00 for a 1-Day Jazzy pass.
ACM will provide transportation for the Study Tours, interPlay Workshop, and An Evening at the Louisiana Children’s Museum.

Taxis, Uber, and Lyft are all available at the Marriott.

InterActivity 2023 Evaluation
We need your feedback to help plan InterActivity 2024! Please complete a session evaluation form in the app by selecting “Feedback” under each session you attend and take our electronic overall survey after the conference is over.

Consultations
Meet one-to-one with a representative from the following U.S. federal agencies:
- Institute of Museum and Library Services
- National Endowment for the Humanities
- National Science Foundation
- Department of Health and Human Services

Available in 15-minute intervals on Thursday, April 27, 12:30 p.m.–1:45 p.m. in Balcony I. Sign up at the InterActivity Registration Desk. Attend the session, U.S. Federal Agencies Funding Opportunities and Commitment to Children and Families, on Thursday, April 27, 10:45 a.m.–12:00 p.m. to learn more about the programs they offer. WEDNESDAY, APRIL 26

All programming will be held at New Orleans Marriott, unless otherwise noted.

Emerging Museums Pre-Conference
Sponsored by Imagination Playground, LLC
8:00 a.m.–4:30 p.m.
BALCONY N

Pre-registration is required; Member, $235, Nonmembers, $335. This event is limited to emerging museums and individuals starting a children’s museum. Registration fee includes breakfast and lunch, and handout materials.

ACM offers the annual Emerging Museums Pre-Conference to share foundational and effective practices of the field with those in the process of starting a children’s museum. The agenda changes each year to keep pace with new trends and insights, but always includes perspectives from recently opened children’s museums.

8:00 a.m.–8:30 a.m.
Breakfast

8:30 a.m.–8:45 a.m.
Welcome

8:45 a.m.–9:30 a.m.
Attendee Introductions and Networking

9:30 a.m.–10:45 a.m.
Perspectives from Recently Opened Children’s Museums
No two children’s museums are ever planned alike. However, much can be learned from those who have gone before. Hear from leaders at recently opened children’s museums. Session includes time for your questions.

Know When to Say NO!
When starting a children’s museum, it is tempting to say YES to everything that is offered to you—and everything you see at other children’s museums. After all, money is tight, resources are stretched, and donors bring ideas as well as funds. It turns out, however, that saying NO can be just as important as saying YES! Presenters will create a fun and interactive session about the joys, challenges, and surprises (as well as some common pitfalls), that can manifest during the start-up phase. Get ready to say YES to all the right things!

ACM Resources

1:45 p.m.–2:45 p.m.
Building Community Engagement
The process of starting a new museum has its challenges but thinking about what kind of programming your institution will offer doesn’t have to be one of them. This session will discuss the highs and lows of museum programming before and after the doors are open.

Beth Housewert, Golisano Children’s Museum of Naples

Kylie Conover, Great River Children’s Museum

2:45 p.m.–3:00 p.m.
Break

3:00 p.m.–4:00 p.m.
Funding for Start-Ups
From seed funding to capital campaigns, this session will cover the different phases of raising funds to begin and build a new children’s museum—plus, how donor focus has changed since the pandemic.

Michael Shanklin, kidSTREAM Children’s Museum

Carla Precht, Independent Professional (formerly Bronx Children’s Museum)

4:00 p.m.–4:30 p.m.

Museum CEO and Executive Directors Retreat

Sponsored by CambridgeSeven
8:30 a.m.–4:30 p.m.
BALCONY IJK

Pre-registration is required; Member $175. Registration includes breakfast and lunch. Attendance is limited to CEOs and Executive Directors at ACM member museums. Registrants may bring one senior staff to join after lunch. Fee includes senior staff attendee.

Re-energize, recharge, and engage with your peers before the conference begins in full. Together we will explore issues and opportunities of interest to ACM member museums—large and small. While new and exciting ideas will be discussed, this retreat will be decidedly tactical. We will surface and discuss some of the “big hairy” problems CEOs are facing. Participants will leave inspired and energized with ideas, effective practices, and innovative approaches to take back to advance their museums. Using the unconference approach, attendees will be asked to select the hot topics for discussion.

New this year, if they wish, participants may bring one senior staffer to the afternoon session. This senior staffer might be the deputy director or other senior level staffer that executives believe might benefit from and contribute to this experience.

8:30 a.m.–9:00 a.m.
Breakfast

9:00 a.m.–12:00 p.m.
Morning Session
Museum CEOs and Executive Directors

12:00 p.m.–1:00 p.m.
Lunch
The networking lunch will allow time for attendees to have further and deeper conversations with selected colleagues.

1:00 p.m.–4:00 p.m.
Afternoon Session
Museum CEO and Executive Directors Retreat and one senior staffer.

4:00 p.m.–4:30 p.m.
Closing
Wrap up and sharing of key takeaways.

STUDY TOUR

A Reggio-Inspired Louisiana Children’s Museum
1:00 p.m.–3:45 p.m.

Tickets are required. Transportation is included. Ticket holders should meet at the Canal Street entrance of the Marriott. The bus will leave promptly at 1:10 p.m. and return by 3:45 p.m.

The Louisiana Children’s Museum (LCM) was developed and designed around the Reggio Emilia Approach® to childhood education. This approach focuses on the image of the child which describes children as being capable, creative, and curious. Come explore LCM as you are guided through how the museum was built and designed to display and enhance how capable children truly are. During the tour, attendees will learn how each exhibit includes In Dialogue threads: tips for caregivers to be in dialogue with their children during a visit. The tour will also showcase children’s assets in each gallery and the museum’s documentation panels. Staff share their processes of observation and documentation, both in daily programming and within their outreach programs. The tour wraps up in the Reggio-inspired atelier, or art studio, where staff will explain how they design experiences that honor their image of the child.

Today’s Tinkers Are Tomorrow’s Inventors
Educators acknowledge that when children are allowed to play and tinker, they explore the world around them, figuring out materials and testing the limits of objects and the environment around them. This process develops fine motor skills, and often, the combination of thinking and calculating during tinkering, leads to a vibrant imagination and the building of things from any materials a kid can find.

Today, with so much attention on new technology in the home and classroom, advancing motor skills and stimulating the imaginations of our children too often takes a backseat. When tinkering, a child is continuously asking, 'Why does this work or why isn't that working?' We must keep our children’s minds and hands engaged if we want them to blossom into the next generation’s inventors and STEM leaders.

Calvin Mackie, PhD, President and CEO of STEM NOLA, is an award-winning mentor, inventor, author, former engineering professor, internationally renowned speaker, and successful entrepreneur. In 2013, Dr. Mackie founded STEM NOLA, a nonprofit organization created to expose, inspire, and engage communities in the opportunities in Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM). To date, STEM NOLA has engaged more than 125,000 K-12 students in hands-on project-based STEM activities. In 2021, he launched STEM Global Action to advance K-12 STEM education across the U.S. and the world. A lifelong resident of New Orleans, Dr. Mackie is the author of two award-winning books, A View from the Roof: Lessons for Life and Business and Grandma’s Hands: Cherished Moments of Faith and Wisdom.

Explora Science Center and Children’s Museum is New Mexico’s family learning space, with a mission to inspire discovery and lifelong inquiry with over 250 interactive exhibits in science, technology, engineering, art, and math.

As part of our Cradle through Career STEAM Learning Campus, Explora just opened X Studio: an education and workforce development center for teens, connecting them with tools, technologies, and mentors.

Coming Soon: Brillante Early Learning Center will be New Mexico’s only full-time, museum-based early childhood education center, serving over 150 infants, toddlers, and young children and acting as the lab school for the community college.
NOW OPEN! The Museum of Discovery, Little Rock, is climbing to new heights with this two-story, three-tower structure of exciting experiences planned and designed by Hands On! Studio.

Four more galleries that invite families to have fun and learn together are in the works, with phased openings starting in 2023.

STUDY TOUR

B Louisiana Children’s Museum: Designed for Sustainability

10:30 a.m.–12:45 p.m.

Tickets are required. Transportation is included. Ticket holders should meet at the Canal Street entrance of the Marriott. The bus will leave promptly at 10:40 a.m. and return by 12:45 p.m.

At the Louisiana Children’s Museum (LCM), sustainability is paramount, from each intentional design decision to daily practices. Led by museum staff and multidisciplinary design firm Mithun, this tour will include a deep dive into the design processes and features of LCM that are responsible for their LEED Gold Certification, from the front porch louvers to the backyard 9,000-gallon cistern and the many sustainable landscape features on the eight-acre campus. Museum staff will showcase how, three years later, they maintain these standards and practice these principles daily. The tour will end with a trip on the Floating Classroom, where the museum’s sustainability efforts are made visible with playful and engaging programming.

CONCURRENT PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT SESSIONS

10:45 a.m.–12:00 p.m.

Small but Mighty! Keeping Your Small-Scale Museum Vibrant

BALCONY JK

Small museums can be game changing institutions for their communities by serving as a gathering place and town square. These are the hubs where neighbors get to know one another and a sense of belonging begins. Unlike larger institutions, small museums face unique challenges and have unique opportunities. In this session, presenters from small museums in the US and abroad will share practical resources and ideas for how small museums with small budgets can create and maintain vibrancy. Attendees will discover innovative strategies for staffing, programming, and exhibit creation that keep small museums relevant and thriving.

Sharon Vegh Williams, North Country Children’s Museum (moderator)
Erin Dowdall, Wonder Works Children's Museum
Amarinda Keys, Children’s Discovery Museum
Rohani de Pont, Children’s Museum Curaçao

U.S. Federal Agencies Funding Opportunities and Commitment to Children and Families

BONAPARTE

Come hear from the Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS), National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH), National Endowment for the Arts (NEA), National Science Foundation (NSF), and the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) about their commitment to children and families, as well as funding opportunities, available to children’s museums.

Sparking Creative Futures: Co-Designing with Children

BALCONY LM

Children and families have been vital in shaping exhibits and programs in our museums. In this session, presenters will discuss inclusive design practices and how collaboration with young audiences and their caregivers have helped make their museums relevant and engaging places of learning deeply embedded in the fabric of their communities. Ultimately, giving children and families a voice enhances a museum’s unique identity and cultivates a deeper connection between them.

Children’s Museums Deserve Public Funding—Government Advocacy at Every Level

GALERIE 2

Children’s museums are doing incredible work in their communities across the country, serving children and families, supporting schools, and so much more. Unfortunately, children’s museums can sometimes be left out of arts and education funding opportunities from public sources. Local, statewide, and federal advocacy is needed to help get the message out that children’s museums are critical cornerstones of every community and a child’s learning ecosystem. Museum leaders share their case studies and effective strategies, and provide tools to help museums of any size, and in various locations, to advocate for funding for their institutions.

Crystal Bowyer, National Children’s Museum
Michael McHorney, Children’s Museum of Eau Claire
Dené Mosier, Kansas Children’s Discovery Center

Caretakers of Wonder: Climate Action and Children’s Well-Being

GALERIE 4

This session will provide an overview of the Caretakers of Wonder project, outlining its work in creating a new developmental framework on climate change for our field, with a resiliency and well-being lens at its core. The session will introduce the network of museums involved, each of whom has committed to taking regenerative climate action that reduces carbon emissions and building educational initiatives that foster compassion, hope, and agency among young children and those who care about them. This playful session will turn a daunting topic on its head and help reframe the conversation to the incredible opportunities that the climate challenge presents museums.

Exploring Religious Literacy in Children’s Museums: Some Whys and Hows

REGENT

Religious literacy in children’s museums? If you’re curious about how those concepts fit together, this session is for you! Hear from staff at Boston Children’s Museum, Children’s Museum Houston, and Science Museum of Minnesota who will share background and programs related to their ongoing religious literacy work. While none of these institutions have all the answers related to religious literacy for young learners, their caregivers, and staff in museum settings, we do have questions, hypotheses, and things we are testing and grappling with in our museums. This session focuses on the importance of religious literacy as it relates to identity development, inclusion, and being welcoming institutions for all visitors.

Who Are We Missing? Ways to Connect with Underserved Communities
GALERIE 3
Sometimes exciting exhibits, friendly staff, and free admission are not what’s needed to engage underserved and under-represented families and communities in our organizations. Participants will learn about unique ways that four different institutions have been able to implement meaningful programming to connect with underrepresented communities. During this session, participants will workshop a plan to expand their organization’s reach, leaving with potential partners in their communities, ways of reaching out to those partners and funders, and ideas for building shared purpose and a sense of belonging with their organization.

Empowering Aspiring Educators
BACCHUS
Positive modeling from museum staff has a profound impact on the developing child, caretakers, and the community as a whole. This session offers rich content to support employee’s happiness and confidence within their roles. Presenters will discuss topics such as professional development, supporting employees where they stand, the power of modeling, healthy work/life balance and the importance of self-care, engagement at special programs, and how to support parent education. The three partnering museums strive to represent and offer support to a variety of spaces and capacities, socio-economic status and staff sizes while speaking on how the same topics can be applied to all.

Measuring Social Impact for Strategic Change
BALCONY I
The Measurement of Museum Social Impact (MOMSI) study is validating a social impact instrument for museums to use to measure their social impact. This session explores the social impact data that emerged from the national study as well as successes and challenges of measuring museum social impact. Staff from two children’s museums will reflect on their experience with the study, including how they recruited participants, internal procedures for navigating the study, and how they intend to use the findings. Attendees will learn about the forthcoming social impact toolkit and be provided an opportunity to shape that toolkit based on their needs.

STUDY TOUR

C Community, Cooperation, and Problem Solving at The National World War II Museum
1:15 p.m.–3:00 p.m.
Tickets are required.
Ticket holders should meet at the Canal Street entrance of the Marriott. A National World War II Museum staff member will meet the group to walk them over. It is about a 10-minute walk.

The National World War II Museum has been serving the children of families and schools for over 15 years. In this study tour, experience the Home Front gallery and view the tanks and seven planes in the U.S. Freedom Pavilion. Education staff will discuss programs and events that highlight parts of the story of WWII that children can appreciate, and that relate to subjects they need to learn: community, cooperation, and problem-solving. On field trips, and in creative uses of our spaces, children learn by asking questions and exploring alongside other children, using their natural curiosity and language to see how communities came together in hard times and found ways to get through them. These big stories, ideas, and artifacts organically connect science, social studies, math, and literacy in student investigations. Learn how to bring children multidisciplinary learning into a history museum. Ideas of how you can do the same will be shared.

D 826 New Orleans: A Space to Cultivate the Voices of Youth Writers
2:00 p.m.–4:00 p.m.
Tickets are required. Transportation is included. Ticket holders should meet at the Canal Street entrance of the Marriott. The bus will leave promptly at 2:10 p.m. and return by 4:00 p.m.

826 New Orleans cultivates and supports the voices of young writers in New Orleans, ages 6-18, through creative collaborations with schools and communities. It is the first 826 National Network location in the South and works from the belief that writing is the key to cultivating a new generation of creative and diverse thinkers who will define a better, brighter, and more compassionate future. During the tour of 826 New Orleans, participants will visit the Writing Lab for young writers (ages 6-11) and the Writer’s Room where the organization’s Young Writer’s Council collaborate on book topics and titles and professionally record their stories. Participants will also have an opportunity to hear from some local youth writers and can visit the multi-functional storefront that allows visitors to get lost in literature while relaxing in a book nook. Did we mention that the store front is also a ghost supply store? Only in New Orleans!
2:00 p.m.–3:15 p.m.

Grow With Your Families: Use Data to Cultivate Relationships and Create Lifelong Donors

BALCONY I

Your families love coming to your museums and become members to benefit from all the wonderful children's programming offered. But as the children grow up are you losing donors, members, and supporters? Younger parents most likely have less of a discretionary spend leaving you unsure of who to ask to invest in your mission. Featuring case studies from innovative development professionals from children's museums, this session will reveal how to appeal to different types of donors and use data to tailor outreach. Those who already have an affinity for your children's museum are more likely to make larger and more frequent gifts, which makes stewardship a vital component of your donor program. Learn how to retain donors and find new people so they can be part of your mission to create memories that last well beyond childhood.

Trending Toward Social Media Success

GALERIE 2

A 2022 National Awareness, Attitudes, and Usage Study indicates that second to an organization's website, social media is the largest source of engagement for cultural organizations. As museums look to increase attendance and visibility in their communities, it is imperative that social media is a part of their marketing strategy. Social media marketing doesn't have to cost thousands of dollars. With a little creativity and drive, museums can create a social media strategy, gather content, and increase their networks with little to no cost involved.

The Importance of Accreditation to Children’s Museums

BALCONY N

Explore the experiences of children's museums who have gone through the accreditation process. Presenters will speak about steps their organizations took to prepare for each phase of accreditation, organizational resources needed during the process and how children's museums uniquely align with accreditation. Each museum will discuss accreditation benefits and overcoming some of the perceived challenges faced in applying. Hear from a representative of the American Alliance of Museums (AAM) to gain a better sense of where your museum fits in AAM's Continuum of Excellence, and the resources this continuum provides to leverage your organization's voice.

How Rewarding is Risk? Play, Risk-Taking, and Building Capable Children

GALERIE 3

How important is risk-taking in play? Can we advocate for children as they assess and take risks responsibly? Children's museums provide opportunities for types of play that help visitors develop decision-making and risk-assessment skills. Whether the challenge is physical, creative, intellectual, or social, the best exhibits and programs present safe spaces for cultivating new skills. This session will explore museum environments where parents trust that children are safe, children encounter new, playful challenges, and everyone learns about reacting to “mistakes” or “failures.” By encouraging (risky) play, we can help children become better decision-makers, and more confident, resilient world citizens.

Applying the Reggio Emilia Philosophy to a Museum Context

GALERIE 1

In this session, participants will hear a brief history of the infant-toddler centers and preschool in the city of Reggio Emilia, Italy. The presenters will give examples of how they integrate the Reggio Emilia Approach® and pedagogy into their museum space for infants, toddlers, and their caregivers. The participants will engage with the presenters’ planning and documentation framework and work in small groups to discuss how they can integrate them into their specific contexts.

Overloaded: Sensory Integration and Inclusion for All!

BALCONY LM

“It’s so loud! It’s so bright! Oh! Look over there!” We all have encountered experiences with sensory integration throughout our lives and particularly in our work in the museum setting, but do we fully understand what sensory integration is and how we can provide inclusion to our guests, team, and community? This interactive session aims to tackle those queries to leverage our voice towards our obligation toward inclusion. Participants will interact with sensory materials and discuss experiences. They will leave with an introductory understanding of sensory processing and resources to take further steps to integrate it at in their facility.

Necessity is the Mother of Invention: Novel Ideas for Community Engagement

GALERIE 4

What do advertisements in Navajo language newspapers, citizen science with tulip bulbs, watching children play with raw materials in a park, and mass production of STEM activity kits have in common? They’re all creative ways museums reached out to their communities during pandemic restrictions, and they were so successful, they’re still using them today. Join presenters from Explora, Thanksgiving Point, WonderTrek and OH WOW! Community Building from the Ground Up: Focusing on Relationships
BALCONY JK
Research shows that human interactions are the essential building block of relationships. This is true in our work with visitors and with one another, and it is especially important now in the face of many changes and challenges. This session applies a professional learning approach grounded in reflecting on our everyday interactions. Presenters will share research about building community with colleagues and discuss how practices, programs, and policies can encourage, enrich, and empower relationships in our museums. This session also explores how a relationship-based approach supports professional learning and community-building to foster organizational strength.

Exploring the Sustainability of Virtual Programs
REGENT
Responding to the increase in virtual programs during the pandemic, ACM, Knology, and Rockman et al are researching the sustainability of children’s museums continuing virtual programs in a post-pandemic era. With recent IMLS funding, the project team is exploring what virtual programs look like now by understanding current priorities of parents, caregivers, and educators and the needs and resources of museums. During this session, we will share current findings and compare results to findings from spring 2021. We will have a data-driven discussion on the feasibility of continuing, or starting, virtual programs as we continue into a post-pandemic future.

Capital Campaigns: Small Voices Lead to Big Wins

GALERIE 2
The prospect of a museum capital campaign often produces anxiety in CEOs and board members. Inner voices whisper, “It’s too much, you can’t do it,” or, “our community can’t afford that.” Nevertheless, equipped with a strong vision three museum leaders share how they leveraged community voices—including children as young as six years old—for their successful campaigns: La Nube, an $80M start-up in the Borderplex of El Paso; the Louisiana Children’s Museum’s new $47.5M project in City Park, New Orleans; and the ‘Nest’, a rooftop community representative space funded by HUD at Brooklyn Children’s Museum.

Youth and Young Adult Leadership Development—Building Bench

GALERIE 4
Where did the work force go? We all feel it; everyone is hiring, looking for talent that brings heart, passion, experience, and skills to their work. Presenters will discuss programs to bridge work skills development and youth leadership; programs that focus on equity in education and community for youth aged 14-19. The goal of this session is to spark thinking around growing and retaining skilled staff and how, even in early learning and K-12, there is a way to engage youth and young adults in our spaces to give them a taste of real-life work.

Size is Not a Constraint for Inclusion

For kids, play reduces stress, removes barriers, and unites families. When kids play, they bring their authentic selves to the experience. With a growing need to provide the same opportunities for the entire family, conversations about diversity and inclusion must continue in our play spaces. Fostering environments that don’t just welcome guests and staff but further represent guests and staff is imperative. In this session, you’ll hear from three different sized museums about their work to be inclusive and reflect the diversity of their own communities. Explore ways to connect with your community, empower staff, and make space for everyone.

Playing with Purpose: Joyful Solutions for Societal Challenges

Overwhelming societal issues like poverty, mental health concerns, and the pandemic impacted many families over the last year putting children museum visitors in the center of the crisis storm. Providence Children’s Museum (PCM) doubled down on its ability to reach more kids than any other organization in Rhode Island—with a joyful, accessible, and appealing reputation. PCM partnered with the Rhode Island Department of Health to provide vaccinations to children ages 5-12 and developed mental health partnerships to address the growing crisis. Learn how PCM leveraged its unique voice, broad reach, and basis of play to address the broadest and most challenging of family concerns—and how your museum can leverage its voice.

MARDI GRAS BALLROOM

ACM will present its 2023 Great Friend to Kids Award to Dr. Kathryn Hirsh-Pasek. The award is presented annually at InterActivity and honors those organizations and individuals who have made significant contributions to strengthen education and advance the interests of children.

ACM selected Kathy Hirsh-Pasek, PhD, for her outstanding contributions to understanding the development of early language and literacy and the role of play in learning.

Kathy is the Lefkowitz Faculty Fellow in Psychology at Temple University and a Senior Fellow at the Brookings Institution. She is best known as a translational researcher, who uses the latest findings in the science of learning to enhance education in and out of school. Kathy pioneered global initiatives like Playful Learning Landscapes and was on the founding committee of the Latin American School for Educational and Cognitive Neuroscience. She is the author of sixteen books and hundreds of publications, has won numerous awards in her field, and was inducted into the National Academy of Education. Vested in translating science for lay and professional audiences, her Becoming Brilliant, released in 2016, was on the New York Times Best Seller List in Education. Her most recent book, Making Schools Work, was released in October 2022.
Our exhibits are manufactured in the USA using the highest grade materials and time tested fabrication processes. With this combination of quality and craftsmanship our interactives are second to none. Whether you are a librarian from a small community, the owner of an emerging play space, or the director of an established museum, we are here to help you accomplish your goals. We create exhibits to fill any space and offer countless finish combinations to match your look.

interPLAY: Understanding Playful Learning in STEM Exhibits

10:30 a.m.–1:00 p.m.

Tickets are required. Transportation and lunch are included. Ticket holders should meet at the Canal Street entrance of the Marriott. The bus will leave promptly at 10:40 a.m. and return by 1:00 p.m.

ACM has partnered with the Oregon State University STEM Research Center to explore the intersection of play and STEM for young learners at STEM exhibits in children's museums and science centers. Over the past three years the project team has collected data from a literature review, practitioner focus groups, and extensive site observations at eleven museums across the U.S. to understand how STEM content is presented in exhibits targeting children ages 3-8 years old and how the presentation of this content impacts the playful learning approaches by children visiting these exhibits. As a result, the project team has drafted tools for practitioners to evaluate STEM exhibits in their museums and determine how these spaces are meeting intended playful learning goals. This workshop will be held at the Louisiana Children's Museum. During the first part of the workshop the project team will discuss the newest iteration of the reflective guide and observation tool and how they can be used to plan for and evaluate exhibits. Workshop participants will then move onto the floor of the museum to pilot the reflective guide and observation tool to assess the characteristics of a STEM exhibit and observe how children are engaging with the exhibit. Participants will then reconvene and share their feedback on both the tool and their overall observations.

Transforming Our World: Welcoming Immigrants and Refugees to Our Museums

Are we leveraging ALL of our voices? Presenters from various size museums will share how art, compassion, food, and learning has transformed outreach efforts to immigrant and refugee populations, creating successful and sustainable services to wider communities, and strong partnerships that inform and impact internal museum culture and external museum accessibility. These inclusion initiatives have impacted not only the recipient families and the educators, artists, and others who provide services, but the museums themselves. Ultimately, such services build positive institutional change and community engagement. Empathy, enthusiasm, and love become integral to each museum’s daily life and operations.

GALERIE 2

Stories have the power to educate in an engaging manner, evoke emotions, and to help visitors connect with their community’s identity. This session investigates the possible impacts of storytelling to enhance museum visits: educational, aesthetic, social, and transformative experiences. Findings suggest that storytelling has a large potential to give novices the context they need to experience culture and may help to generate long-lasting memories. Museums must design experiences that connect with visitors and cater to their particular needs. This may contribute not only to increased visitor numbers, but also to balance their perceived authority.

Seeing Joy and Other Social Emotional Moments in Our Museums

BALCONY LM

Children’s museums have an interest in understanding children’s social emotional experiences. Even prior to the unique challenges presented by the pandemic, interest in children's social emotional development and learning was growing because of their foundational role in life. While playing in children’s museums, children demonstrate a range of social emotional behaviors, from joy and delight to frustration. But what do joy, or other social emotional expressions, look like? How do museums encourage positive social behaviors? Three approaches provide helpful insights into framing social emotional behaviors: listening to and observing children’s expressions; and creating opportunities to invite delight, sharing, cooperating.

Scaling Respectfully: Co-Developing Play-Based Activities Across a Museum Network (and More!)

GALERIE 4

Collaboration among children’s museums can form a community of practice across institutions. This session highlights how several small and medium-sized children’s museums, serving urban, rural, and suburban communities, worked together to explore play-based learning practices and co-develop Children’s Creativity Museum’s Mystery Box Challenge. Using the same practices, materials, and a variety of prompts, age-appropriate programming and adaptable activities were deployed across settings. In this session, participants will learn how they can leverage their own inter-organizational networks to scale programming in a way that is respectful, sustainable, collaborative, and de-colonized.

Advocating for the Floor—Opening Communication Between Floor and Management

BALCONY JK

To guests, museum floor staff are the face and voice of the organization. But are these same voices valued in the board room? This session will feature stories from two museums where open communication between floor staff and managers has created meaningful organizational changes. Attendees will walk away from this session with guidance on how to advocate for themselves or their employees in the workplace, share their experiences and challenges with colleagues in the field, and build confidence in their abilities to effect positive change in their organization.

There Will be W(h)ine! Cheers to Financials That Engage Boards

BALCONY LM

Financial presentations are essential business: not necessarily meant to be entertaining, yet don’t typically inspire strategic engagement from our talented boards. More often, we can almost hear the internal groans of our colleagues and board leaders when we move through financial presentations. What if we were able to create deeper understanding for more organizational and board interest? What if we were able to tell our organization’s story better, and ask questions in a more interesting and compelling way? This session will guide you to reduce complexity, listen more intently, and leverage the creativity and wisdom of your board in your museum’s financial journey.

Museums for All: Being a Pillar in Your Community

GALERIE 2

Museums serve their communities and it is up to them to make the active invitation that ensures everyone has access and feels welcomed. Attendees will learn the value the Museums for All program can bring to both visitors and museums and learn how their own museums can participate. They will also learn ways in which they can partner with other museums in their community to make their Museums for All offering even more robust. The program is easy to use “out of the box,” but also customizable for what makes sense for the museum and its community.

Engineering with Young Children
BALCONY JK
Can a preschooler engage in real engineering practices? We think YES! Come learn how OMSI and the Boston Children’s Museum collaborate with families and preschool teachers as we share how engineering is a pathway to building empathy and to supporting bilingual/bicultural family connections. You are invited to consider both families and teachers as learning audiences, test out favorite hands-on engineering activities that empower engineering design process skill-building and leave with tools to implement engineering for early learners at your own site.

Amplifying Our Impact through Play-Based Learning
GALERIE 1
Children’s museums are known as hubs for play-based learning. How can we leverage our expertise to meet community needs and amplify our impact? The Children’s Museum of New Hampshire and Scott Family Amazeum asked that question and found solutions to share play-based learning knowledge, serve new audiences, create partnerships, and expand each museum’s reach and impact. This session will explore how they identified community needs and program partners, as well as how they created and disseminated content. Attendees will break into groups to brainstorm and capture ways to leverage their own museum’s expertise. Leave with play-based learning resources and ideas to implement with limited resources.

Strengthening Families by Engaging Parents in Play
GALERIE 3
In this session, representatives from Port Discovery Children’s Museum, The Regnier Family Wonderscope Children’s Museum, and community partners will discuss the structure and impact of parent education programs run by children’s museums. Both museums are currently in their second year of running parenting programs for families in need of additional support and resources. Attendees will learn how to utilize family engagement, parent voices, community partnerships, and social-emotional learning to have a lasting, positive effect on family relationships. After attending this session, attendees will understand how museums can leverage their voices in their communities to strengthen families.

More Mistakes Were Made!

BALCONY I

As museum professionals, we don’t usually admit our mistakes. It’s understandable—we answer to supervisors, boards of directors, government institutions, funders, clients, and to the public. Sharing our mistakes is the first step in learning from them. Join us as we come together to create a playful and safe environment that allows for admission of failure, encourages reflection, and celebrates professional growth. A crowd-sourced contest awards the Epic Failure Trophy of 2023 to the person in the room with the biggest mistake of the year and a “Red Pencil Reward” for all!

What Does a Post-Pandemic Children’s Museum Look Like?

GALERIE 4

Since the spring of 2020, ACM and Knology have been collecting data to understand the ongoing impact of the pandemic on children’s museums. The information gathered has been discussed via ACM Trends Reports and ACM hangouts. The ACM Data Hub launching in Spring 2023 will provide museums with operational data trends from before the pandemic to 2021. During this session we will reflect on data collected, discuss trends, and use information from the ACM Data Hub and Blackbaud to determine what a post-pandemic children’s museum looks like and what this all means for the field moving forward.

While LEGOLAND® Billund Resort is not the first LEGOLAND® location we’ve created interactive exhibits for, it presented unique challenges that we were excited to tackle. This table, hand-painted to resemble the canyon walls of the Colorado River, creates an immersive boat racing experience that invites visitors to play with various interactives and propel their LEGO® boats through the water.

ACM and Madison Children’s Museum invite you to InterActivity 2024: Flourish! Children’s museums have a unique opportunity to reimagine and create a positive future. By radically flourishing in an ever-changing society and environment we can re-establish our sense of interconnection, use language and actions to frame the positive, and help our communities thrive.

InterActivity 2024 will explore how the field can ensure that every child prospers and becomes their best self, which in turn creates a more caring, compassionate, inclusive, and sustainable global community.

Submit a Session Proposal

ACM and Madison Children’s Museum invite you to submit a session proposal. Tie your proposal to the theme: How has your museum helped children prosper? What creative collaborations have nourished connections in your community? What bold actions are creating a positive future for children and families? Proposals are selected by the InterActivity Program Committee who look for innovative, adaptable practices. The session proposal form and selection criteria are available at www.ChildrensMuseums.org.

Session proposals are due by Monday, July 31, 2023.

Destination Madison

Madison Children’s Museum holds an expansive view of the role a children’s museum can play in its community—and the world. Known nationally for four decades of groundbreaking work, including sustainable children’s museum exhibit design, strong access programs, and a free First-Time Parent membership, Madison Children’s Museum has been leading the way to create welcoming spaces that inspire imagination and creativity. Its central downtown location with a green rooftop garden and new Wonderground outdoor exhibit, makes it a favorite destination for families from every community in the area.
