

InterActivity Small Museums Financial Aid Application Form

Children's museums are leaders in developing and implementing diverse opportunities for young people to engage with and learn from important museum interactions. Small museums are investors in early childhood development and learning, and often establish early childhood dedicated spaces or specialized programs despite having fewer resources than larger museums. The InterActivity Small Museum Financial Aid Program provides staff who work at smaller museums (annual budget $500,000 or under) with complimentary registration to InterActivity and a complimentary ticket to the evening event. The program's goal is to offset the professional development expenses for those who would benefit from attending the conference. Awardees will attend the entire InterActivity conference and be asked to participate in the review process to determine awardees for the following year.

Please submit this application form, and any required supplemental materials, via myACM.
